REPORT OF THE TOWN CLERK

In 2006, we registered 648 dogs and veterinarian rabies reports indicated another dozen or so new dogs. This year we will be switching to a different style of dog tag as our local manufacturer has retired.

The majority of residents faithfully register their dogs every year. Unfortunately, about 20% each year are delinquent. This creates a lot of extra work and expense for our office and for the police department.

New Hampshire law requires that you register your dog and have a current rabies certification from your veterinarian. This week as I am writing this, I have three examples that emphasize the value of your compliance. This morning a woman called from Cornish with two stray dogs. By consulting my list, I was able to give her the name of the owners. She was able to make a phone call and not have to call the police. I had a similar example a couple of weeks ago.

If these two people had called the police, the dogs would have been impounded and ended up at one of the local shelters. The shelters charge a large fee for this service and the dogs would have suffered the trauma of capture and being brought to a strange location.

A more important example is a dog bite situation where our officers had to ascertain that the dogs were properly licensed and that the rabies shots were current. If the dog who bit had not had a current rabies shot on record, it would have had to be impounded and quarantined.
